

Headline Urban Mobilities!

The City on the Move Institute has created a new international journalism competition. Student journalists are asked to put together an investigative feature about innovative services for city mobility. The competition will run over the academic year 2003-2004, culminating in an international prize of €5000 to be awarded in June 2004. For preregistration and all the competition details, log on to <http://www.ville-en-mouvement.com>